Eating Disorders Summer Research Fellowship

Since 1997, a summer fellowship program has been designed to stimulate interest in eating disorders research and train young investigators in the field.

Research Fellowships

In 1997, we established a summer fellowship program to stimulate interest in eating disorders research and train young investigators in the field. The Eating Disorders Clinical and Research Program provides annual funding for Summer Research Fellowships with the support of Matina S. Horner, Ph.D. and the Lawrence J and Anne Rubenstein Charitable Foundation. For 17 years, Matina S. Horner, Ph.D. has sponsored 53 undergraduate and graduate students. In 2013, we were fortunate to receive an award from the Rubenstein Foundation in support of our Summer Research Fellowships. During their 8 weeks at the EDCRP, our fellows receive supervision and mentoring as they conduct independent research projects, participate in our research activities, and meet weekly with our staff for discussion sessions on research methodologies in the field of eating disorders.
