

RA POSITION AVAILABLE

Drs. Ana Abrantes and Lisa Uebelacker are looking for a research assistant to work on several projects starting June 2017. Please see description below. Butler Hospital is located in Providence, Rhode Island and is affiliated with the Alpert Medical School of Brown University.

Please submit a resume and cover letter to Julie Desaulniers at jdesaulniers@butler.org.

Research Assistant- Exercise and Innovative Interventions for Depression and Smoking Cessation

Butler Hospital - Division of Research

Status Full-Time

Shift Day

Has Benefits Yes

Job Description Researchers at Butler Hospital are looking for a research assistant to work on several studies, including a clinical trial comparing methods for increasing physical activity for people with depression, a clinical trial of exercise for smoking cessation, and an exploratory study of brain stimulation to increase physical activity engagement in depressed individuals. Research assistants will join our team of physicians, psychologists, exercise physiologists, and other staff. Responsibilities include participant recruitment, diagnostic interviews with research participants, tracking participants, and data collection.

Required Education Bachelor's degree or equivalent in psychology, or a related field; previous research experience with human participants, including experience in undergraduate classes; experience with medical patients or psychiatric patients desirable, but not required. Fluency in Spanish a plus.