A full-time academic hourly position in developmental psychology and psychopathology is available at the BA or MA level at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, beginning in the summer of 2019. The position involves serving as a Project Coordinator for the STEP (Study of Teen Emotion Processing) Project, a federally funded study evaluating the utility of an emotion mindset induction for enhancing emotion regulation at the psychological, behavioral, and neural levels in at-risk adolescent girls. The project coordinator will be responsible for managing and overseeing the day-to-day activities of the project, including recruitment, scheduling, oversight of the emotion mindset intervention, and data collection using surveys, behavioral tasks, and functional magnetic resonance imaging (fMRI). We seek candidates with outstanding communication and interpersonal skills, excellent ability to organize and balance multiple tasks, and demonstrated ability to complete tasks accurately.

Responsibilities include:
- Coordinating school-wide screening assessments
- Recruiting adolescent participants
- Coordinating and supervising research visits
- Training and supervising undergraduate research assistants
- Overseeing data entry and management
- Managing the project budget
- Maintaining the lab website

The Project Coordinator will receive intensive training in research in developmental psychology and psychopathology and will have the opportunity to contribute to preparation of grants and manuscripts.

Minimum requirements: Bachelor's degree in Psychology or a related field and at least one year of significant research experience.

Preferred experience/skills: Research experience with adolescents and families, including observational and/or neuroimaging methods; familiarity with statistical software packages (e.g., SPSS, Mplus).

Application process: Please send a letter of interest, resume, and the names and contact information for two references to Dr. Karen Rudolph at krudolph@illinois.edu. Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. For further information, please contact Dr. Rudolph at krudolph@illinois.edu or (217) 333-8624.

This is a one-year position, with the possibility of extension.
