Position: Summer Internship

The Dare Institute of the Dare Association, Inc. working with Dr. Michael Lamport Commons, faculty at Harvard Medical School. The Dare Institute conducts research on human decision-making and development within the contexts of academia, economics, politics, institutions, businesses, medicine, and the law.

This position has a flexible start date.
Interns will be unpaid and will be expected to be available from 20 to 35 hours per week.

- Opportunity to conduct exciting research with a Harvard Medical School professor
- Opportunity to present work at a conference
- Opportunity to publish a co-authored publication
- Recommendation letter will be provided on request.

The research intern will:
- Help formulate and test models
- Plan experiments, collect and analyze data
- Collaborate with the research supervisor
- Communicate results at meetings
- Write paper for academic publication

The ideal candidate for the research internship:
- Is a Bachelor’s or Master’s degree student studying Psychology or a related field
- Likes to work independently
- Is self-motivated and capable of taking the initiative
- Possesses written and verbal communications skills
- This position is ideal for a rising college Junior or Senior as well as a master’s student working on a thesis

Required Skills - Background in Psychology Research
Preferred Skills- Statistics, SPSS, Research Design, fantastic oral and written communication skills

My best,

Michael Lamport Commons, Ph.D.
Department of Psychiatry
Harvard Medical School
Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center
234 Huron Avenue
Cambridge, MA 02138-1328
commonsmlc@gmail.com
http://www.dareassociation.org/
617-497-5270 Telephone
617-320-0896 Cellular
617-491-5270 Facsimile