

Part-time Research Assistant (RA) Position Available

Psychophysiology and Social Interaction

Fall 2014

Description

We are looking for research assistants to help with a negotiations study that involves psychophysiological methods and will be run in the Harvard Decision Sciences Laboratory from September through December. This is a paid position, and is also an opportunity to gain experience in psychophysiological research. The research team includes Modupe Akinola, Assistant Professor of Management at Columbia Business School, Michael Lee, Doctoral Student in Management at Harvard Business School, and Jeff Polzer, UPS Foundation Professor of Human Resource Management at Harvard Business School.

Responsibilities

The student RAs will help run participants and/or help with other aspects of the study. We will be running the study one day a week and anticipate being in the lab 5-8 hrs per week.

Qualifications

- Mature, responsible undergraduate (or graduate) who is detail-oriented and enthusiastic about learning
- Be able to commit one day a week (either Wednesday or Friday) to be in the lab from approximately 11 am – 6 pm.
- Ideally looking for female RAs though males will be considered
- Some research experience is preferred, though not required

Payment

- $15 an hour

If interested, please send inquiries and resume to Michael Lee at milee@hbs.edu as soon as possible.