Interested in health or medicine-related careers?

Consider Engage Chicago's Special Concentration in

Health and Medicine

Deadline: Apr. 4th - Final

The program runs from

June 20th to Aug. 15th.

Engage Chicago offers a dynamic program component for students interested in careers or further study in health & medicine. Students interested in health-related fields (medicine, public health, health policy, etc.) can enhance their Engage Chicago experience by applying to participate in this optional special track.

The Engage Chicago: Health & Medicine Concentration consists of a series of weekly seminars and field experiences that help students explore contemporary issues and prospective careers in medicine, public or global health, health policy, and other related fields. This track is designed to leverage the assets of the city to help students understand the realities of individual health in the context of the U.S. healthcare system. Students will be exposed to a wide variety of different prospective careers related to medicine, public or global health, and health policy, including visits to:

- Providers - Doctors, Nurses, Public Health Practitioners
- Hospitals and Clinics
- Insurance and Pharmaceutical Companies
- Government/Policy Institutions
- Nonprofit/Civic Organizations

To learn more about Engage Chicago's other special track, the Law & Advocacy Concentration, visit: www.engagechicago.org/law.

Engage Chicago is an immersive field study program, designed to give students a powerful summer learning experience in one of the world's most dynamic cities. Through academic coursework, hands-on experience at top organizations and institutions, thoughtful reflection, and a summer living with a vibrant community of peers, Engage Chicago is a powerful opportunity for students to learn about a great city, about social change, and about themselves.

In previous summers, students have interned at organizations such as the American Red Cross, the Illinois Maternal & Child Health Coalition, and the Chicago Public Schools Office of Family & Community Engagement. They explored the rich culture and history of Chicago and the theories and ideas behind community development work in Field Studies in Civic Engagement, a course taught by popular Northwestern Professor John "Jody" Kretzmann, a nationally recognized expert in community development and urban affairs.

Engage Chicago offers students the opportunity to:

- Gain invaluable work experience at top organizations in Chicago
- Earn course credit while learning among a community of peers
- Experience daily life in the diverse, dynamic city of Chicago
- Serve alongside leaders and organizations that make a difference
- Learn first-hand about politics, history and methods of social change
