

Home Base Program
Volunteer Research Intern (Fall Semester)

The Home Base Program for Veterans and their Families at the Massachusetts General Hospital is accepting applications for a Volunteer Research Intern position. The Home Base Program is a partnership between the Red Sox Foundation and the Massachusetts General Hospital. We are dedicated to improving the lives of veterans who served in support of the conflicts in Iraq and Afghanistan and live with service-related stress and/or traumatic brain injury, or related conditions, and supporting their families. For more information about our program, please visit our website at www.homebaseprogram.org.

The Volunteer Research Intern will have the opportunity to support a range of studies focusing on post-traumatic stress disorder, traumatic brain injury, and other disorders frequently found in post-9/11 veterans and their family members. We are seeking an undergraduate psychology student with experience and/or coursework in research methods and statistics to assist with data entry, cleaning, preparation, and analysis. Duties will also include assistance with the preparation of presentations and scientific papers and management of administrative tasks, as needed. This position offers valuable research experience for junior or senior college students.

To apply, please send your CV (including GPA) and a copy of your transcript to Rebecca Zakarian at rzakarian@partners.org.
