

Radcliffe Institute Research Fellowship

Our Radcliffe Institute Research Partnership Program matches students with leading artists, scholars, scientists, and professionals.

The partnership is designed to be mutually beneficial. Fellows act as mentors, while students provide research assistance, acquire valuable research skills, and participate in the Institute's rich intellectual life.

The partnerships mirror the multidisciplinary nature of the Institute with project topics in:

- the arts;
- gender studies;
- the humanities;
- public policy; and
- science.

Students may apply now to participate during the 2015–2016 academic year.

Applications are due by September 13, 2015, at 11:59 p.m.

As a Radcliffe Institute research partner, you will work with a fellow from September 2015 through May 31, 2016. You will be paid $14 per hour and work an average of 5 to 10 hours a week (and not more than 20 hours per week during the academic term).
