

The Science Directorate of the American Psychological Association (APA) will sponsor its Summer Science Fellowship program, hosted by the Psychology Department at George Mason University, June 13 – July 25, 2015. Up to twelve students who are current juniors will be selected for this six-week, paid summer research internship. Students will be selected for experiences in one of several areas of psychology, including biological, applied developmental, applied cognitive, neuroscience, clinical, school, and industrial/ organizational.

Students currently enrolled in US or Canadian colleges are eligible. International students at US or Canadian institutions may apply; US citizenship is not required. Students from underrepresented groups are especially encouraged to apply.

The application deadline is February 9, 2015. Applications, transcripts, and letters of recommendation must all be received by that date.

Please visit the Summer Science Fellowship page for more information about the program. Contact ssf@apa.org or call 202-336-6000 if you have questions.