

Jobs that make an Impact

Two years of action for our environment, our democracy, our future

To learn more about our jobs and internships, visit www.weareimpact.org.

Impact runs action campaigns on issues that matter, like global warming, clean water and big money's influence over our democracy, and we're hiring!

This isn't a study program or a travel program; it's an action program. Our mission is to create the grassroots action, energy and power it takes to make an impact on important issues.

If you're serious about making an impact on these issues and you're willing to get out and work in the real world, where issue campaigns like these are won and lost, then we're the group for you.

We also have internships available for current students during the academic year and over the summer.

Our priority application deadline is Sunday, February 15.
