

Associate in Research in the Duke Identity and Diversity Lab at Duke University

The Duke Identity and Diversity Lab, directed by Dr. Sarah Gaither in the Department of Psychology and Neuroscience, seeks a full-time Associate in Research, ideally beginning in June-July 2026 (start date is flexible). The initial appointment will be for one year, with the possibility of extension for additional years based on performance and funding.

Position details:

The Associate in Research will manage all aspects of the research program investigating social identities, perceptions, and behavior, with both adult and child populations. The Associate in Research will also help manage an NSF CAREER grant, which will test multiple pathways that lead to adopting multiple identity mindsets.

Responsibilities Include:

- Overseeing day-to-day lab operations, including participant recruitment
- Designing, running, and analyzing experiments with children and adults
- Coordinating, training, and proactively working with motivated undergraduate research assistants from underrepresented backgrounds
- Maintaining IRB protocols, budgeting and expenses for internal and external grants, website updates, undergraduate award applications, lab purchases, etc.
- Assisting in planning lab events, social brown bag events, invited speakers, and training
