

Lab Manager in the ParkLab at Vanderbilt University

The ParkLab at Vanderbilt is seeking a Research Technician/Lab Manager to work with us on a NIH-funded project on self-disturbance and social disconnection in schizophrenia spectrum conditions. We use immersive VR to run many of our behavioral tasks. We are a small, collaborative group, but with several ongoing international projects so in addition to the NIH project on personal space, there will be opportunities to get involved in global research networks. Research interested in psychosis spectrum disorders and coding skills would be very helpful.

Please see the job description and apply here!