

Research Assistant
Recovery Research Institute at Massachusetts General Hospital

Dr. David Eddie at the Recovery Research Institute at Massachusetts General Hospital, Harvard Medical School is recruiting a research assistant for a 1-year (2 semester) term with a commitment of ~10 hrs/wk.

This person will assist with various research tasks ranging from project management on National Institute of Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism (NIAAA) funded studies including but not limited to phone screening research participants, helping run experimental sessions, and post-processing psychophysiological recordings. These tasks require the ability to engage in problem solving and innovative thinking, as well as clear and timely communication and flexibility.

Though some aspects of the work can be done remotely, research assistants need to be able to travel to Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston to assist running study sessions. Research assistants may elect to do research for credit (PSY 910R).
