

Research Assistant with the UNC TEACCH Autism Program

Dr. Brenna Maddox, at the University of North Carolina TEACCH Autism Program, is hiring a full-time Research Assistant to support a PCORI-funded comparative effectiveness study of school-based interventions to manage anxiety in autistic students. Ideal start date is June 1, 2023, although there is some flexibility with timing. The application is open until Tuesday, January 31st. More details and application instructions: <https://unc.peopleadmin.com/postings/246898>

Research Assistant with the UNC TEACCH Autism Program

Dr. Brenna Maddox, at the University of North Carolina TEACCH Autism Program, is hiring a full-time Research Assistant to support a PCORI-funded comparative effectiveness study of cognitive-behavioral therapy versus mindfulness-based therapy for autistic adults with anxiety/depression. Ideal start date is June 1, 2023, although there is some flexibility with timing. The application is open until Tuesday, January 31st. More details and application instructions: <https://unc.peopleadmin.com/postings/246900>